About VASS

The Victorian Arabic Social Services (VASS) started in 1986 as a network of workers who met regularly to discuss issues of concern to the Arabic-Speaking-Background (ASB) communities in Victoria. VASS grew over the years to become a state-wide key service provider with specialist expertise and knowledge in working with ASB communities and advocating on their behalf. VASS is an incorporated not-for-profit association managed by a Board of Management elected by VASS members at an Annual General Meeting.

Mission

The Victorian Arabic Social Services is dedicated to addressing the social, cultural and welfare needs of the Arabic speaking background (ASB) communities in Victoria

Vision

For a more inclusive Victorian community that values the strengths of Victoria's vibrant and diverse ASB communities

Organisational Values

- VASS is committed to serving ASB communities by remaining non-political, non-religious, non-sectarian and inclusive of all ASB community groups
- VASS recognises the cultural, religious and regional diversity of ASB communities
- VASS acknowledges the common threads that bind members of the 22 Arabic speaking countries located in the world.
- VASS work is underpinned by community development principles which aim to develop the citizenship status of ASB communities through improved access to services , decision making and civic participation
- VASS supports and adheres to the Victorian Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities

About 'No Excuse for Family Violence' project

The No excuse for family violence was an initiative of the Victorian Arabic Social Services (VASS) which is funded by the National Community Crime Prevention Programme (NCCPP).

The project aimed to inform, assist and support families of an Arabic Speaking Background (ASB) to understand, avoid and resolve family violence in a culturally sensitive and the use of an appropriate framework.

The project aimed to establish partnership arrangement with other key service providers to ensure on-going benefits to the community. The project covers ASB communities residing in the municipality of Hume, Darebin, Greater Dandenong and Hobson's Bay.

The project assisted ASB communities by:

- Raising awareness of what constitutes violence in Australia, the way it is understood and dealt with in Australia
- Increasing awareness of the law and legal system as it relates to family violence
- Increase awareness of the available services and networks that families can draw on for support and in time of crisis
- Increasing competence and skills to better cope and deal with pressures and conflicts
- Lessen the incidence of family violence
- Minimise risks that expose families to violence
- Develop partnerships between VASS and other support services to ensure sustainable outcomes
- Creating a more sensitised and competent mainstream service sector, better able to meet the needs of ASB families affected by violence
- Reinforcing a positive message of leading healthy, active and crime-free lifestyles

The Victorian Arabic Social Services continues to provide support services to victims of violence through counselling, case management, social support programs and referrals.
